Border Patrol absolves itself in dozens of cases of lethal force

(LA Times) - U.S. Border Patrol agent who killed an unarmed 15-year-old Mexican boy by shooting him in the face after a rock-throwing incident on a border bridge to El Paso in 2010 was recently cleared of wrongdoing by the agency's internal affairs office. So was a Border Patrol agent who shot and killed a 17-year-old Mexican who threw rocks from the Mexican side of the border fence near Nogales, Ariz., in 2011. Internal affairs also cleared an agent who shot and killed a 19-year-old U.S. citizen as he climbed over a border fence into Mexico near Douglas, Ariz., in 2011. Agents said the man was seeking to flee after driving a narcotics-laden truck into a Border Patrol vehicle. In all, an internal investigation of 67 shooting incidents, which left 19 people dead, absolved agents of criminal misconduct in all but three cases, which are still pending. The review was completed last month. None of the agents involved has been charged with a crime, said Anthony Triplett, who helped direct the review at the office of internal affairs for U.S. Customs and Border Protection, the parent agency of the Border Patrol. Only two agents faced disciplinary action. Both received oral reprimands. Criminal charges are still possible in the three pending cases, officials said. Prosecutors in the Justice Department's civil rights division have been investigating those lethal shootings, all from 2012, since they occurred. The agents in those three cases are still conducting armed patrols on the border, officials said.

Hong Kong police arrest nine over 'bomb-making plot'

(BBC) - The arrests come in the same week that lawmakers are due to vote on a controversial political reform plan. Police spokesman Ng Wai-hon did not make a direct connection between the arrests and the vote but said at least one of the suspects belonged to a "radical group". Hong Kong has seen large-scale protests for greater democracy in recent months. In April Hong Kong's government unveiled a highly controversial proposal for selecting the city's next chief executive in 2017 which would involve candidates being vetted by a committee made up largely of pro-Beijing members. Democracy activists have said they are opposed to the proposals and pro-democracy legislators have vowed to vote them down. Thousands of people barricaded parts of Hong Kong for more than two months in protest when the proposals were first announced last year. Police said items seized in the raids included air rifles, a formula for making smoke grenades, face masks and maps of locations in central Hong Kong. Police said some of the substances were seized at an abandoned TV studio with other raids taking place at suspects' houses. Pro-democracy activists, some of whom are known as "localists" because of their anti-Beijing stance, have distanced themselves from the alleged plot. "Police said localist activists are making bombs, but I am not sure if it's real or not. We have nothing to do with that," Jon Ho of the Hong Kong Localism Power group told AFP.

Prepare for Dangerous Heat!

Excessive Heat Watch Tue-Sun for lower AZ/CA deserts

Orange Means...

Heat like this happens many times a year. Heat-related impacts are possible if simple precautions are not taken.

Red Means...

Heat-related impacts are likely, even for the general population, if precautions are not taken.

Heat events like this happen only a few times a year.

Magenta Means...

Heat-related impacts are highly likely. Heat events like this are rare and unusually dangerous, possibly deadly. People new to the area may not have experience dealing with these sorts of big events and may underestimate the magnitude of precautions they should take.

Potential Heat Impacts Start Tuesday

Advice

- Drink before you're thirsty
- Avoid strenuous activity
- Stay in air-conditioned areas
- Check on the heat-sensitive (elderly, infants, pets)

WEATHER

WEATHER SYNOPSIS BY REGION:

NORTHERN CALIFORNIA AND CENTRAL COASTAL AREAS:

Eureka Weather:

Low clouds and fog in coastal influenced areas will burn off quickly this morning. However, at the immediate coast, low clouds will be much more stubborn and may not burn off at all. This will be the pattern for much of the week as onshore flow has established itself.

Medford Weather:

The strong thermal trough associated with the offshore flow this past weekend has now moved onshore. The hot temperatures supported a few thunderstorms over Siskiyou county Sunday afternoon and evening and those have since dissipated. The thermal trough will move farther inland Monday.

Reno Weather:

A warm and mostly dry pattern will continue into the upcoming week. West flow aloft will keep afternoon breezes going each day with the strongest winds this and Thursday afternoons. A strong ridge may bring the first triple digit temperatures of the season to the area by Sunday or Monday of next week.

San Francisco Weather:

Dry weather is set to persist with near seasonal temperatures through much of the week. A slight warming trend is expected by late week and into the upcoming weekend as high pressure builds off of the West Coast.

CENTRAL CALIFORNIA AND SOUTHERN SAN JOAQUIN VALLEY:

Sacramento Weather:

Continued above average temperatures with dry conditions are expected through the week.

Hanford Weather:

High pressure will bring dry conditions and continued above normal temperatures through the week and into next weekend.

WEATHER

WEATHER SYNOPSIS BY REGION:

SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA:

Los Angeles Weather:

Gradual warming trend is expected through the week as high pressure builds in from the southwest. Low clouds and fog will continue to affect the coastal plain this week as well. Well above normal temperatures are possible for inland areas by next weekend as a large ridge of high pressure may develop.

Extreme Southwestern California including Orange, San Diego, Western Riverside and Southwestern San Bernardino Counties:

High pressure aloft will slowly strengthen across southern California through next weekend bringing a slow inland warming trend and gradually decreasing marine layer depth with high temperatures 5 to 10 degrees above average.

Southeast California Weather:

Skies will be sunny with a continued warming trend. Strong high pressure will become situated over the desert southwest this week leading to seasonably hot conditions. Many lower deserts locations will see a prolonged period of temperatures above 110 degrees likely lasting through the upcoming weekend.
